Roulette Quick Sheet

- The House Man/Banker should spin the wheel and, at the same time, spin the ball in the opposite direction. A little practice will determine how fast to spin each. When the ball falls into the center and first contacts the spinning wheel, the House Man should announce "No more bets", after which all placing of chips should cease.
- When it can be seen which number the ball has fallen into, the House Man should announce the number and whether it is Red or Black and Odd or Even and High or Low.
- All bets pay off according to the odds listed in the following table. When a ZERO or a DOUBLE ZERO turns up, the House collects all bets except those made specifically involving these two numbers. See bet payouts below.
